To see and be seen.

Unobstructed views of the ocean and the downtown Miami skyline provide the perfect backdrop for the awe-inspiring Peacock Alley, centered around the larger than life signature Pendulum Clock, a tradition for every Waldorf Astoria property. Inspired by the original Foucault Pendulum, invented in 1851, now famously hanging from the dome of the Pantheon in Paris, this structure remains fixed while illustrating time and the rotation of the earth, reminding us of both the pure beauty and suspended timelessness of our current surroundings.

"The form is always the measure of the obsession."

Alberto Giacometti

Inspired by 20th Century sculptor Alberto Giacometti, who explored themes of space, perspective and fractured forms, the building's cubism-influenced design stands prominently as the city's tallest structure; an architectural phenomenon and a defining symbolic moment in Miami's ascendance.

A modern global city.

Miami has rapidly evolved into a world-class city and downtown Miami has become a true driving force behind the city's cultural evolution. From its accessibility to the retail and tourism offerings, this thriving metro center is a hub for commerce, finance, arts, sports and entertainment. The building itself pays homage to the architecture of the city with understated references to its art-deco history, commissioned artworks that will line the interior and a nod to Miami's intrinsic curves and textures. Live life at the epicenter of a town where the international influences between art, culture and natural beauty collide in a one-of-a-kind way at an equally powerful moment in this city's history.
